This list of Furtwängler broadcasts/broadcast recordings is based on various private and official lists in my possession. Most of the lists were given to me by Frau Elisabeth Furtwängler during visits in Clarens in the 1970s.

I have not tried to verify stations missing from the lists.

I have given RRG (Reichsrundfunk Gesellschaft) as source for many WWII broadcasts, which were transmitted from Berlin, Vienna, Bayreuth, or Prague. Many of the dates of these broadcasts stem from an Italian list (from Bologna), written in perfect German!

Broadcasts of commercial recordings (78 rpms and LPs) are not included.

In November/December 2003, I was asked by Angelo Scottini, Piacenza, Italy, to include his list of Italian broadcasts. January 1, 2004, René Trémine gave permission to include all broadcasts mentioned in his Furtwängler concert listing 1906-1954. April 21, 2008, Norbert Kleekamp forwarded information on the Meistersinger broadcasts from Bayreuth August 1943. February 1, 2010, I included the recorded broadcasts in my discography up to 1945. November 2012, René Trémine sent me a list of amendments, added on January 10, 2013. February 18, 2018, I added broadcasts from the Danish Radio (DR), from the BBC, and from the RRG. March 9, 2018, a few amendments by Stéphane Topakian were added

Even with these new sources included, this list is known to be incomplete!

The following documents were used to compile the list:

RRG Broadcasts

In September 1939, by order of Dr. Goebbels, 10 concerts of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra were broadcast in a series called Meisterkonzerte des Großdeutschen Rundfunks; two of those concerts were conducted by Furtwängler – September 13th and October 1st. Thereafter Dr. Goebbels ordered that the 10 Philharmonischen Konzerte (subscription concerts) of each season to be broadcast, at least the first half, whilst the second part was recorded in view of later broadcasting. These recorded concerts were broadcast Sunday afternoons normally between 6:10 PM and 7:00 PM in a series called Musik zur Dämmerstunde (Music at twilight time). Each of these broadcasts was preceded by a spoken introduction by Gerhart von Westerman, intendant of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra. Many of these broadcast recordings are thought to be lost; others have survived and have been issued on LP and/or CD.

(Partly based on the booklet accompanying the Tahra CD issue: FURT 1014-1015)

A few Words of Explanation

In the Programme column, notes are given in parentheses. If the note refers to the whole broadcast, it is placed on a new line after the last work broadcast. If the note refers to a single work only, it is placed directly after that work. Suppositions are given in Italic.

In the Orchestra / Place column, most of the orchestra names are given with the usual English abbreviations:

- BPO = Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra
- LPO = London Philharmonic Orchestra
- PO = Philharmonia Orchestra (London)
- VPO = Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra
- VSO = Vienna Symphony Orchestra

Other abbreviations used:

- FO = Festival Orchestra
- GO = Gewandhausorchester
- O = Orchestra
- PO = Philharmonic Orchestra (preceded by the name of the town)
- SO = Symphony Orchestra

If no place is given, the BPO concerts took place in Berlin, LPO and PO in London, and VPO and VSO in Vienna.
