Furtwängler Broadcasts & Broadcast Recordings 1926-1954

1st version: February 20, 2002
Latest revision: March 23, 2026

This list of Furtwängler broadcasts/broadcast recordings is based on various private and official lists in my possession. Most of the lists were given to me by Frau Elisabeth Furtwängler during visits in Clarens in the 1970s.
I have not tried to verify stations missing from the lists.
I have given RRG (Reichsrundfunk Gesellschaft) as source for many WWII broadcasts, which were transmitted from Berlin, Vienna, Bayreuth, or Prague. Many of the dates of these broadcasts stem from an Italian list (from Bologna), written in perfect German!
Broadcasts of commercial recordings (78 rpms and LPs) are not included.

In November/December 2003, I was asked by Angelo Scottini, Piacenza, Italy, to include his list of Italian broadcasts. January 1, 2004, René Trémine gave permission to include all broadcasts mentioned in his Furtwängler concert listing 1906-1954. April 21, 2008, Norbert Kleekamp forwarded information on the Meistersinger broadcasts from Bayreuth August 1943. February 1, 2010, I included the recorded broadcasts in my discography up to 1945. November 2012, René Trémine sent me a list of amendments, added on January 10, 2013. February 18, 2018, I added broadcasts from the Danish Radio (DR), from the BBC, and from the RRG. March 9, 2018, a few amendments by Stéphane Topakian were added. A few corrections were added on March 25, 2018. March 27, 2018 some broadcasts from the Swedish Radio (SR) were added. Broadcasts up to the end of 1947 from the Austrian database ANNO were added July 1, 2018. Minor corrections August 1 and 21, 2018; October 2, 2018; January 25, 2019; February 21, 2019; March 7, 2019; June 26, 2019. Many broadcasts added based on the Swiss Scriptorium database in Lausanne July 5, 2019. Minor corrections September 1, 2019. New information added January 29, 2020. American broadcasts of 1926 and 1927 added February 25/26, 2020. Minor corrections March 1-10, 2020. Minor corrections February 18, 2021. Minor corrections December 12, 2021. Minor corrections: February 4, 2022. The ANNO database was checked again for concerts with the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra through June and July 2022. Minor corrections January 2 & 18, 2023. Radio recordings of the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra updated February 17, 2023. Minor corrections November 27, 2023. Minor corrections February 22, 2024, May 14-16, 2024, October 17, 2024, December 20, 2024, March 6, 2025, May 13, 2025, May 20, 2025, June 1, 2025. During June and the beginning of July 2025 the Austrian database ANNO was checked again for all periodicals containing radio programmes related to Furtwängler. Minor corrections February 4, 2026. Updates from Radio Wien 2026.03.23

Even with these new sources included, this list is known to be incomplete!

The following documents were used to compile the list:

- Dr. Wilhelm Furtwangler's broadcast performances. – [s.l.] : [s.n.], [1954-1955]. – 10 p. – Contains information on works arranged by composer, date of recording (!), place, and "broadcast" from May 25, 1947 to September 19, 1954. Compiled shortly after Furtwängler's death on November 30, 1954, it also contains information on negotiations on some taped recordings for release on records, e.g. Beethoven: Symphony no. 9 from Bayreuth 1951 (issued on LP in November 1955)
- Furtwängler, Wilhelm – Dirigent / [Sender Freies Berlin]. – [Berlin] : Sender Freies Berlin. Schallarchiv, [19]61.10.02. – 2 p. – Contains details of recordings in SFB, with tape numbers from September 16, 1947 to September 19, 1954

RRG Broadcasts

In September 1939, by order of Dr. Goebbels, 10 concerts of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra were broadcast in a series called Meisterkonzerte des Großdeutschen Rundfunks; two of those concerts were conducted by Furtwängler – September 13th and October 1st. Thereafter Dr. Goebbels ordered that the 10 Philharmonischen Konzerte (subscription concerts) of each season to be broadcast, at least the first half, whilst the second part was recorded in view of later broadcasting. These recorded concerts were broadcast Sunday afternoons normally between 6:10 PM and 7:00 PM in a series called Musik zur Dämmerstunde (Music at twilight time). Each of these broadcasts was preceded by a spoken introduction by Gerhart von Westerman, intendant of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra.
Many of these broadcast recordings are thought to be lost; others have survived and have been issued on LP and/or CD.
(Partly based on the booklet accompanying the Tahra CD issue: FURT 1014-1015)

Thanks

I beg to thank the following persons who provided much valuable information:
Pascal Auffinger, Rudolf Boll, Michael H. Gray, Helge Grünewald, the late Philippe Jacquard, Raoul Konezni, Ernst Lumpe, Angelo Scottini, Roger Smithson, Stéphane Topakian, the late René Trémine, and George L. Zepos.

A few Words of Explanation

In the Programme column, notes are given in parentheses. If the note refers to the whole broadcast, it is placed on a new line after the last work broadcast. If the note refers to a single work only, it is placed directly after that work. Suppositions are given in Italic.

In the Orchestra / Place column, most of the orchestra names are given with the usual English abbreviations:

- BPO = Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra
- BSO = Berlin Symphony Orchestra
- GOL = Gewandhausorchester Leipzig
- LPO = London Philharmonic Orchestra
- NYPO = New York Philharmonic Orchestra
- PO = Philharmonia Orchestra (London)
- VPO = Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra
- VSO = Vienna Symphony Orchestra

Other abbreviations used:

- FO = Festival Orchestra
- O = Orchestra
- PO = Philharmonic Orchestra (preceded by the name of the town)
- SO = Symphony Orchestra

If no place is given, the BPO concerts took place in Berlin, LPO and PO in London, the NYPO concerts took place in New York City, and VPO and VSO in Vienna.

Please observe: This is not a discography!
